

Clip 17: How an organisational culture can provide your job satisfaction?

Clip 18: How an organisational culture can motivate an apprentice?

JOB SATISFACTION		JOB MOTIVATION
Respectful treatment of all employees on all levels	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Two-way communication with employees • Keeping employees informed • Encouraging employees' response • Listening to employee's concerns and needs 	Sharing in results company performance	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Sharing the success of the organisation with employees e.g. rewarding • Making employees feel valued and part of the success
Trust between employees and senior management	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Involving employees in decision making • Nurturing honest and supportive relationship • Doing what was said to be done • Regularly engaging with staff 	Taking interest in future path of an employee's career	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Realising every employee's career potential • Enabling further training e.g allowing time off for further education
Opportunity to use skills and abilities in your work	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Valuing employee's skill • Challenging employees to perform at a higher level • Giving an employee greater responsibility 	Taking interest and implementing measures in employee's work life balance	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Having family friendly policies and practices e.g. flexible working times • Providing good holiday provisions
Respect for employee's ideas	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Encouraging everyone to contribute innovative ideas • Equally considering everyone ideas regardless of their position 	Making employees feel that your work is important and meaningful-	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Making company's goals specific and clear • Ensuring that an individual employee is aware of how they contribute to the company's goals
Management's recognition of employee's job performance	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Praising employees for a job well done • To feel genuine, praise needs to be relevant, timely and personal 	Varying the nature of individual employee's job	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Giving employee various tasks to avoid monotony • Giving tasks that are more challenging and allowing that mistakes can be made at the beginning

Disclaimer

This project has been funded with support from the European Commission. This publication reflects the views only of the author, and the Commission cannot be held responsible for any use which may be made of the information contained therein.

Co-funded by the Erasmus+ Programme of the European Union

Disclaimer

This project has been funded with support from the European Commission. This publication reflects the views only of the author, and the Commission cannot be held responsible for any use which may be made of the information contained therein.